

This summer, why not have a great job outdoors with the Rhode Island Department of Transportation

The RIDOT Division of Highway & Bridge Maintenance is recruiting Student Highway Maintenance Workers for its Summer Cleanup Operations 2005. There are statewide opportunities for these positions, which run from late May to September, and which pay $8.50 per hour for a 40 hour workweek.

The Rhode Island Department of Transportation is now accepting applications from students, age eighteen (18) years or older, to assist with the summer cleanup operations along state highways. To be qualified, individuals must be a Rhode Island resident enrolled in an academic program in good standing and be physically able to perform general unskilled manual labor such as sweeping, shoveling, grass cutting, weed wacking, litter pickup, etc.

The individuals must at the time of hiring meet the following minimum criteria:

- Be age 18 or older and a resident of the State of Rhode Island
- Be enrolled in an academic program for fall 2005
- Possess a valid Driver's License
- Pass a physical examination to perform assigned duties

If you meet the qualifications and are interested in this season's operations, send a copy of your resume or a completed Form CS14, and evidence of your academic standing. Responses should be sent to the address listed below:
